Dr. Heather Price

Welcome

A Celebration of Our Life and Work Together

*Responsive Call to Worship:

Leader: Come, let us worship the God who knows us completely and loves us faithfully.

People: You have searched us, O God, and You know us.
We cannot hide from Your presence,
and we cannot save ourselves from our sin.

Leader: Yet the God who knows us is also the God who loves us. While we were sinners, He sent His Son, Jesus Christ, to bear our guilt and bring us back to Himself.

People: We praise You, Father, for creating us.
We praise You, Jesus, for redeeming us.
We praise You, Holy Spirit, for making us new and leading us in the way of life.

Leader: We come before the God who created us, who formed us with purpose and knows us by name.

People: Lord, You know us.
Lord, You are with us.
Lord, You love us.
Through Jesus Christ our Lord,
we come now to worship. Amen.

♦ J.S. Bach's music (1685-1750) reflects his deep devotion to the Christian faith. His musical legacy cannot be separated from his sense of worship, both personal and universal. He frequently wrote S.D.G. (Soli Deo Gloria—"To God alone be the glory") and J.J. (Jesu Juva—"Jesus, help me") on his musical manuscripts.

Honouring the diverse cultural and spiritual practices and preferences at Wolfville Baptist, music on the first Sunday of each month will strive to offer a listening experience for reflection and contemplation for members of the congregation. We will offer classical music from our Christian heritage that spans the centuries. The music elevates us all (not the performer), as we reach out to the Divine through the God-given gift and language of music.
